Reading: Read a book (or news article, magazine, etc.) of your choice at least 30 minutes per day.

Writing: Letter

Making connections with others is very important for our overall well-being. This week, make a connection with a friend, family member, or neighbour by writing them a letter.

Your letter should consist of three paragraphs:

- In your first paragraph, greet your friend and ask how they've been doing.
- In your second paragraph, talk about something you have been doing lately.
- In your third paragraph, write about something you would love to do with your friend once you can hang out again.

Follow these guidelines when writing your letter:

- (1) Start with a draft.
- (2) Once you've written a draft letter, read it over and fix any mistakes. (Hint: reading out loud to yourself is an excellent way to find mistakes you may otherwise miss!)
- (3) Then, find at least three sentences you could revise to improve your writing in some way (better phrasing, richer vocabulary, adding more detail, etc.)
- (4) Once you're finished editing and revising, create a good copy.

If you'd like, send the letter to your friend through email or post mail!
