

Theater Arts 120 – Home Learning

For the last month we have focused our attention on specific plays and shared our opinions of them. I must say that I very much enjoyed reading your thoughts and views on the different aspect of the plays, so thank you for your emails!

We are now going to change gears a bit.

Check out the National Theater's playlist on the many different aspects of the play "Twelfth Night." They look at areas like disguises, gender, communication, darkness, and suffering through love.

This assignment will be for the next two weeks.

For this week, I want you to choose 5 of the videos, and take notes on what they discuss in the videos. Then give your opinion.

For example, if you watch the disguises video, you will take a few notes and then state why you think disguises are important in putting on a performance.

- Why would a costume change help to show the difference in emotion? How can disguises show gender? Etc.

For the second week, you will watch the last 4 remaining videos that you did not watch last week and do the same.

Please email me if you have any questions regarding this assignment. Also email me if your assignment and I will send you feedback.
